THE ADAMS EXPRESS ROBBERY.

A New

York paper says that the property stolen

from the Adams Express car did not all be long to New York nor to consignees of New York houses, but was divided between Bal timore, Washington, Philadelphia and the

New York banks and people, and their dast ardly correspondents. The matter stolen was mainly in currency belonging to banking institutions, the total amount of which may be given approximately as follows:

In the Washington branch $275,000

In the Baltimore branch 150,000

In the Philadelphia branch 100,000

In the New York branch 150,000

Total $675,000

This may be increased or lessened when the way bills are obtained, which up to Tues day had not been sent in to the office of the General Superintendent. There appears to be a great discrepancy in the accounts about this stolen treasure. A late despatch de clares that the amount did not exceed $55,000.

The thermometers in New Hampshire

marked 30° below zero, Sunday, and then gave out.

THE MUTUAL LIFE Insurance Company of New York was incorporated under special charter by the Legislature of New York on the twelfth of April, 1842.

It was determined at the outset that no policy should be granted unless the insured was a resident of New York, and that the first policy was issued on the first of February, 1843, at which date the Company formally commenced operations, and is thus the oldest Mutual Life Insurance Company in the United States.

It will be seen that during the whole period of the Company's history, the receipts have exceeded the payments, thus showing the care and skill exercised in selecting the best lives only for insurance.

This Company will issue Policies, on a single life, to the extent of $20,000, but only in cases where the physical condition and family history of the applicant are entirely unexceptional.

Having received the Agency of this Company I take pleasure in placing it before the public as deserving of the confidence and patronage feeling assured that its merits will commend it to the favorable attention of all. Information given, and blanks furnished, on application either in person or by mail.
